FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

On this feast of the Epiphany, I'd like to focus on one simple phrase from the Gospel. And it is this; 'They were overjoyed at seeing the star'.

They were overjoyed. If I asked each of you, 'What draws you to the Catholic faith?', I'm sure I would get many different answers. But how many of us would answer, 'Because it brings me so much joy?'

As you know, one of the hymns we sing many times during the Christmas season is 'Joy to the World'. But do we truly believe it? Do we really expect to be filled with joy; not just at Christmas but continually, each and every day as we make our way on the journey, we call life? And is this joy fleeting, or permanent? Temporary or for always? Given to a few or to all?

I think I know what you might be thinking. It's impossible to always be joyful. Life doesn't work like that. It's too hard. It's too disappointing. It's too heartbreaking at times. And in one sense, you are absolutely right. To be human is sometimes to be angry or fearful or lonely or full of sorrow. And yet, a truly joyful person is one who can face all of those things knowing he or she is not alone, confident that God loves them, will comfort them, and will walk with them through whatever life throws their way. Real joy is not something that can be taken away by anything from the outside. Rather, it is a product of the God within, the God who is guiding us and leading us and shining light on the path he is inviting us to take.

The Magi were not overjoyed because somehow, they knew that no hardship would ever come their way again. Nor were they overjoyed because they had all the answers or that they had everything figured out. Rather, they were probably overjoyed because they believed they were on the threshold of something wonderful, that the world had new possibilities, and that the journey they had taken was not in vain, but rather had led them to a place of hope and light and meaning and wonder.

That's what God has in store for each of us; not a life devoid of sorrow, but one also full of meaning; not a life without disappointment, but one also full of hope; not a life free from challenges, but one also full of possibilities. In a word, a life full of joy.

Joy to the world, the Lord is come! May each of us let God do the leading and, like the Magi, be overjoyed at what and whom we discover.

God bless you, Fr. Stan

THE EPIPHANY OF THE LORD – HOUSE BLESSING

According to Austrian theologian Pius Parsch “The Lord and ruler is coming; kingship is His, government and power.” With these words the Church proclaims that the feast brings to perfect fulfillment all the purposes of Advent. Epiphany, therefore, marks the liturgical zenith of the Advent-Christmas season. The blessing of homes, on whose lintels are inscribed with blessed chalk the cross of salvation, together with the indication of the year and the initials of the three wise men (20+C+M+B+24), Caspar, Melchior and Balthasar which can also be interpreted to mean Christus Mansionem Benedicat, (Christ Bless this House)
