FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

All three readings today speak of God's unconditional love for us. The first reading from Chronicles sums up the Babylonian captivity of the people of Israel. The people sinned. They refused to listen to the prophets. Their temple was desecrated and deserted, but when Cyrus of Persia defeated the Babylonians, he restored the people to their land. The people knew that this was all because of the mercy and compassion of God.

In the second reading from the Ephesians, we receive salvation as God's gift. We are God's handiwork. We are created to live the good life, the life of honorable deeds prepared for us by God.

In the third reading, our Gospel, we hear the words, 'God so loved the world that He gave his only Son so that everyone who believes in Him might not perish but might have eternal life.' This is unconditional love.

We have a hard time accepting the concept of unconditional love. We cannot believe that someone will do something for us and expect nothing in return without any strings attached. It's like when we say, "If it's too good to be true, then it probably isn't." That's not the case here. Readings from Ephesian say that we are created so that the good works of Jesus Christ might be our way of life. This is not paying God back. This is simply living as God wants us to live. You require the same from your children. You want them to live good lives not because this repays you for all the time and money you spent on them, but simply because you want them to be happy and you know that the only way they can be happy is to be good people.

Just as a parents love their children, they don't love for a price, but because their children are lovable. That's how God loves us. He doesn't love us because He needs our love, He loves us because He wants us to share His love.

A good way to share in the abundant and unconditional love of God is with the beautiful sacrament of reconciliation. Allow yourself the gift of letting go of anything that prevents you from fully receiving this love.

God loves us for who we are, no strings attached. We have to be able to fully appreciate and accept this unconditional love of God and put that love into practice in our own lives.

God bless you, Fr. Stan
